CEDER

Center for Educational Development, Evaluation, and Research
CEDER is the research and development branch of the College of Education at Texas A&M University-Corpus Christi. Its initiatives focus on the educational needs of all students, but particularly those in South Texas.

CEDER regularly hosts conferences that bring together educators and researchers from around the country to discuss selected educational topics (follow the links at left for more information):

- The annual CEDER Conference
- National Literacy Coaching Summit
  April 3 and 4, 2009

CEDER also facilitates and coordinates grants, research, publications, symposia, new initiatives, and evaluations for other educational agencies. The center operates with both federal and local funding.

Tenure track faculty in the College of Education may apply for CEDER funding.
