Under a new link on the revised website, the welcome reads as follows:

Texas A&M University-Corpus Christi and the Veterans Affairs Office welcome military members to our campus family. We are committed to recruiting, retaining, and supporting active duty service members, veterans, and dependents to maintain a diverse and highly qualified student body, faculty, and staff. Our University is expanding military friendly services and programs for America’s returning military members by preparing for the implementation of the new GI Bill in August 2009. We are adopting a Military Student Bill of Rights, we participate in the Service members Opportunity Colleges (SOC), and encourage student organizations such as the United Student Veteran Organization USVO and the Islander Reserve Officers Training Corps (ROTC) Battalion. We encourage participation in all of our student programs, and welcome you to our campus family.

The USVO purpose is below:

The purpose of this chartered student organization is to: assist veterans in the acclimation from military to academic life for a successful college experience; assist veterans with common issues, and provide counsel on veterans’ educational benefits, scholarships, and other resources available to veterans; serve as the definitive organization advocating for veteran student issues at the university and state level; to allow other students and the community to be involved with veterans from the university; and to create a resource in support of members of our Armed Forces, at home and deployed around the world.
